How TutaPoint works...

Through a simple sign-in process, a student or their parent may schedule a session with a tutor skilled in the student's specified academic subject. When signing in, a student must provide the subject in which they need help and then, with one click of the mouse, the student may schedule a session, submit a piece of writing or request instant help. Sessions are held in TutaPoint's classroom, complete with video, a virtual chalk board and chat screen.

How TutaPoint helps...

As a parent, you do your best to ensure your child is keeping up with his or her homework. But let's face it, not every parent is a Calculus expert. When tricky math problems or complex lab assignments arise, students often need the expertise of a professional educator to work through them. That expertise, in a variety of academic subjects, is now available online and on-demand, through TutaPoint, where professional-level tutors are ready to go live with your student and his or her homework.
